About Jamie

Jamie Gantt is a global speaker, leadership facilitator, and Professional Certified Coach (PCC) known as The Alignment Leader.

Jamie's work helps women understand their own rhythms, voice, and way of leading so they can create success that actually fits who they are.

Her talks combine psychology, lived experience, and practical insight that leave audiences thinking differently about success, ambition, and what it means to lead.

SIGNATURE TALKS

After Careful Review: A Refreshingly Honest Look at Self Improvement and Being Human

Many ambitious women spend years trying to optimise themselves through discipline, productivity, and endless self improvement. This keynote explores the pressure to constantly fix and upgrade ourselves and offers a refreshing perspective on what it means to simply be human.

Leading From Alignment: Creating Success That Actually Fits Who You Are

Many successful women realise at some point that the path they followed does not fully fit who they are. This talk explores what alignment really means and how women can lead, build, and make decisions from a place that feels true to them.

Stop Chasing: Redefining Success Beyond Achievement and Approval

Achievement culture teaches women to chase success, validation, and approval. Yet the feeling of finally arriving often stays just out of reach. This keynote explores why the chase never ends and how redefining success changes everything.

SPEAKING STYLE & FORMAT

Jamie delivers engaging, conversational talks that combine humour, insight, and honest storytelling. Her sessions create moments where audiences recognise themselves, rethink old assumptions, and leave with practical ways to lead and live with greater clarity.
